

Molly Frankel
Medfield, MA

Molly is a Senior Vice President and Senior Counsel at Citizens Bank, where she provides regulatory compliance and risk management guidance in the areas of consumer lending and strategic partnerships. She also oversees Citizens' Legal Intellectual Property practice, managing Citizens' extensive domestic trademark portfolio, and counseling clients on brand enforcement, domain prosecution, and copyright compliance. Molly has more than 20 years of experience providing strategic corporate legal advice in both private practice and in-house settings, and maintains particular expertise in the areas of technology, intellectual property, and privacy. Molly serves on the Advisory Board of Medfield Youth Outreach, a social services organization providing assistance to youth and families in need. She is actively involved in Citizens' diversity and inclusion initiative, and co-chairs its Pro Bono Committee. Molly is a former GSEMA Troop Leader and parent volunteer, and is a Girl Scout alum. She is a member of the American Bar Association, the Women's Bar Association, and the Association of Corporate Counsel. Molly graduated from Hamilton College with a BA (cum laude) in French Literature, and a J.D. from Northeastern University School of Law.
