

Allison H.
Girl Scout Senior

Allison is a high school sophomore and has been a Girl Scout since Daisy level. She has earned her Bronze Award, which focused on educating people on the causes and effects of homelessness. Her Silver Award project focused on making feminine hygiene products more available in public schools. Allison is currently working toward earning her Gold Award, which centers on creating a program to teach high school students how to prepare nutritious meals for themselves. Outside of Girl Scouts, Allison enjoys playing trombone in her school marching band, traveling, and reading. Allison is passionate about science and hopes to pursue a career in cancer research.
